Alright Dirk!
You've already stolen more than half of my fencing students!
We've reached a point where your school of swordfighting has to close down permanently, I'm afraid.

Gladiatores Comic - by Alexander Werner Jr - Copyright: All Rights Reserved - August 2008

I prefer to be addressed as "Blademaster Dirk", my friend! And I don't have "fencing students", they are "followers"! Oh, and there's the group of "Real Gladiators Chicks" on the other hand.

Gladiatores Comic - by Alexander Werner Jr - Copyright: All Rights Reserved - August 2008

But, shame on me Sven! I nearly forgot the "Real Gladiators Cheer-leaders" who cheer us happily into every one of our medieval market action shows!

I hope you've got a "Real Gladiators Hospital" as well with "Real Gladiators Nurses" to happily sew your limbs back together again. And please don't be angry with me if I interrupt our pleasant conversation so brutally now, but your time is running out.

Fine!
Things are working out
just as planned, so
I'll pay attention to more important business now, if you don't mind.
I think I'll find the way out myself Dirk...

I see you're the better fighter of the two of us!
Let me unscrew this pommel to show my humility and pass it on to you as a symbol of your true victory...

It is a great pleasure for me, my Lord, to present to you the large festive dining hall of your new villa. I'm sure you will be very pleased with the medieval atmosphere!

Thank you ever so much, my dear! You know, I'm a tremendous fan of the Middle Ages and I just cannot understand why people of the medieval period are often branded as ferocious and brutal animals!

It's undeniable that there were many rules of how to live together in a society as well as highly developed forms of art and culture! I mean, one cannot just say...

moan!
I think...we outpaced them.

Gladiatores Comic - by Alexander Werner Jr - Copyright: All Rights Reserved - August 2008

One...eh...question I still got for you
Dirk: How did you jump into that armor so quickly?

Well Sven,
the ways of the..."Real Gladiators" are mysterious indeed.....You must firstly oversharpen your senses, and then...

Gladiatores Comic - by Alexander Werner Jr - Copyright: All Rights Reserved - August 2008

Gladiatores Comic - by Alexander Werner Jr - Copyright: All Rights Reserved - August 2008

So...how do we explain this fashionable new look to our wives at home?

No worries!
You simply tell her that you walked passed the "Gladiatores" film set while they were doing a new swordfighting movie!
We've always drawn passers-by into the action scenes, you know; with devastating results!
Quite shocking, to be honest...

THE END

Alex Werner

Gladiatores Comic - by Alexander Werner Jr - Copyright: All Rights Reserved - August 2008

Attention! The author is trying to speak!

The Comic was created with the Open Source Painting Program 'Gimp'. The Font used for the text is 'Linux Libertine'

Many years of tough training at a German school for historical swordfighting called "Gladiatores" have left me with unbelievable and supernatural fighting skillz. One day though these deadly energies inside me tried to break free, so I had no choice but to take a swift decision: If I would do nothing, the powers escaping my immortal body would harm any innocent person unlucky enough to cross my devine path. I sat down immediately to channel those vast energies straight into this comic. I called it "Gladiatores - The Comic!". You say I'm retarded? Then I say: YOU'RE the one who's retarded!!!
